Dear Rene Minnis:

“A picture is worth a thousand words.” This is so true. However, when I first opened my album I was rendered speechless. The pictures are absolutely stunning. You captured every special moment, every laugh, every tear and every intimate detail of our wedding. I have spent hours upon hours staring at our photos, and with each time I look at them I notice something new.

From our very first meeting with you, you made us feel comfortable with the whole experience. Levi and I knew that our wedding pictures were one detail we did not have to worry about with you behind the camera. The entire wedding day you went above and beyond a photographer’s duties. Your “emergency kit” saved the day when my bracelet broke right before I walked down the aisle, and what other photographer would have got on her hands and knees at the reception to fix an unraveling bustle. Thank you for everything.

Thank you for spending extra time capturing all of the little things. There were so many aspects of the reception site that I didn’t even see, but you had captured all of them in your pictures. What an unexpected gift you gave me. It was amazing the amount of wedding guests you were able to capture as well. You provided us with the perfect balance of posed and candid pictures. I wouldn’t have changed a thing the entire evening. Both Levi and I, and our guests, were very pleased and impressed with your work both during the ceremony and reception.

And finally, thank you for how quickly you were able to get our wedding pictures to us. It truly meant the world to us to be able to cherish the memories while they were still fresh in our minds.

I would, with no reservation, recommend you to anyone looking for a wedding photographer. Levi and I also plan to utilize you in the future for, hopefully someday, family photographs.

Sincerely,

Brianna & Levi Robbins
